Index to Eastern European Economics Volume 28
(Fall 1989–Summer 1990)

Fall 1989–Winter 1989–90/Vol. 28, Nos. 1–2

Money, Incentives, and Efficiency in the Hungarian Economic Reform

Edited by JOSEF C. BRADA and ISTVÁN DOBOZI

Economic Reform in Hungary: An Overview and Assessment
JOSEF C. BRADA AND ISTVÁN DOBOZI

PART I. MONEY, BANKING, AND REGULATION IN THE HUNGARIAN REFORM

Economic Control and the Structural Interdependence of Organizations in Hungary at the End of the Second Reform Decade
ALADÁR SIPOS AND MÁRTON TARDOS

Next Steps in the Hungarian Economic Reform
BÉLA BALASSA

Hungarian Financial and Labor Market Reforms
Developing Conditions for the Market Mechanism?
CATHERINE M. SOKIL

Can Hungary's Monetary Policy Succeed?
MÁRTON TARDOS

The Reorganization of the Banking System in Hungary
TAMÁS BÁCSKAI

PART II. THE EFFICIENCY ALLOCATION OF RESOURCES —WHAT HAS REFORM ACHIEVED?

Estimates of the Output Loss from Allocative Inefficiency
A Comparison of Hungary and West Germany
ROBERT S. WHITESELL

Changes in the Structure of Industrial Production and Foreign Trade in the Period of Restrictions, 1978–1986
JÁNOS GÁCS

Market Strategy of the Hungarian Enterprise
Sources of Inadequate Response to Environmental Challenges
PÉTER ÁKOS BOD

The Defense of Worktime in Hungary
Worktime and the Economic Reform
JÁNOS TIMÁR

Index to Eastern European Economics Volume 28
(Fall 1989–Summer 1990)

Fall 1989–Winter 1989–90/Vol. 28, Nos. 1–2

Money, Incentives, and Efficiency in the Hungarian Economic Reform

Edited by JOSEF C. BRADA and ISTVÁN DOBOZI

Economic Reform in Hungary: An Overview and Assessment
JOSEF C. BRADA AND ISTVÁN DOBOZI

PART I. MONEY, BANKING, AND REGULATION IN THE HUNGARIAN REFORM

Economic Control and the Structural Interdependence of Organizations in Hungary at the End of the Second Reform Decade
ALADÁR SIPOS AND MÁRTON TARDOS

Next Steps in the Hungarian Economic Reform
BÉLA BALASSA

Hungarian Financial and Labor Market Reforms
Developing Conditions for the Market Mechanism?
CATHERINE M. SOKIL

Can Hungary's Monetary Policy Succeed?
MÁRTON TARDOS

The Reorganization of the Banking System in Hungary
TAMÁS BÁCSKAI

PART II. THE EFFICIENCY ALLOCATION OF RESOURCES —WHAT HAS REFORM ACHIEVED?

Estimates of the Output Loss from Allocative Inefficiency
A Comparison of Hungary and West Germany
ROBERT S. WHITESELL

Changes in the Structure of Industrial Production and Foreign Trade in the Period of Restrictions, 1978–1986
JÁNOS GÁCS

Market Strategy of the Hungarian Enterprise
Sources of Inadequate Response to Environmental Challenges
PÉTER ÁKOS BOD

The Defense of Worktime in Hungary
Worktime and the Economic Reform
JÁNOS TIMÁR

Spring 1990/Vol. 28, No. 3

Editor's Introduction
ZBIGNIEW M. FALLENBUCHL

Property Ownership
MÁRTON TARDOS

Market is the Only Escape
WOJCIECH PRUSS

The Decay of Economic Stalinism
ANDRZEJ MATYSIAK

Inflation and Equilibrium
(Methodological Aspects)
PIOTR BOGUSZEWSKI

Wages: Scapegoat and Victim
The Relationship between Wages and Inflation
in Economies of Shortages
SZILVIA SZEGŐ

The Tasks of Trade in Socialist Means of Production
Within the Context of Further Economic Growth
HANS-CHRISTOPH STEUDTNER

Summer 1990/Vol. 28, No. 4

Editor's Introduction
JOSEF C. BRADA

Treatise: Prognostic Self-Analysis of Czechoslovak Society
VALTR KOMÁREK

Growth, Structural Changes, and Openness of the Economy
KAREL DYBA

The Imperatives of Long-Term Prognosis and the Dominant
Characteristics of the Present Economy
VÁCLAV KLAUS

Privatization, Dogma-Free Self-Management, and Ownership Reform
KÁROLY ATTILA SOÓS

Ownership Reform and Profit Rate
TIBOR ERDŐS